BANYAN AIR SERVICE VENTURES INTO FALCON MARKET

Banyan Air Service is gearing up to add the Falcon 50 and 900 to their long list of capabilities. "For over thirty years our business model has always evolved around the needs of our customers. We continue to listen to the marketplace and have identified a real need for maintenance and avionics support for this airframe in our region", says Paul Rose, Sr. VP of Technical Sales for Banyan Air Service. Banyan has begun the process of identifying the tooling and training requirements and hope to have this added to their operational specifications by the third quarter of 2009.
