Banyan Air Service Targets Lear 40/45 Community

Fort Lauderdale, FL - With the increased coverage provided by adding a second shift and the addition of nine new technicians in the last ninety days, Banyan Air Service (FXE) has added the Lear 40 series airframe to their growing list of capabilities.

"Our on-going marketing research has shown a real need from the Lear 40/45 community for another option other than the OEM for support in South Florida and Banyan Air Service intends to answer that call. With many of these aircraft coming out of their factory warranty period, we have made the investment in training and tooling to serve this market. Banyan has been serving the Learjet community for well over 30 years and this is a decision that our customers helped us make," says, Paul Rose, Banyan's vice president of technical sales.

Banyan Air Service based at Fort Lauderdale Executive Airport is both an FAA and EASA approved repair station, and holds Venezuela, Argentina, and Brazilian government maintenance approvals. Banyan caters to domestic and international aircraft owners, corporations and governmental agencies. In addition to Learjet maintenance, Banyan Air Service offers avionics solutions, 24-hour FBO services, aircraft management and sales, Jet Runway Café and a unique Pilot Shop.
